Peacebuilders

In times of darkness in the Holy Land, the work of JPB offers sparks of light... Like lingering embers in a fireplace, given the right conditions and a little bit of oxygen these sparks can grow ablaze with light and energy. Every financial gift to JPB helps kindle these sparks, and our ongoing support represents much-needed oxygen... Our work today expands the possibility that the next generation will be ablaze with hope for a better tomorrow.

— Rabbi Steve Gross

A Message from Our Executive Director

2023 opened with hope -- and its autumn began with sound, fury, and fear. The Hamas attacks of October 7 plunged all the peoples of the Holy Lands into an unprecedented uncertainty.

Jerusalem Peacebuilders staff quickly devoted themselves to caring for JPB youth and adult participants with online dialogues, counseling, and learning sessions. This attention by the staff prevented the JPB family from rupture and chaos. While formal programming in the Holy Lands paused, demand for presentations on peacebuilding in the Middle East reignited in the United States.

In wartime and peacetime alike, JPB continues to invest in the future of the Holy Lands one leader at a time. Our programs impacted over 2,300 participants this year, with over 10,000 students impacted by our EXCEL alumni teachers.

It is only with the trust and support of our community that Jerusalem Peacebuilders could endure. JPB raised a record $615,000 in 2023, receiving $270,000 in December alone. Notable gifts included $75,000 from the Spaulding Foundation, $40,000 from the Lofberg Family Foundation, $20,000 from the Wood Trust, and $11,000 from Congregation Etz Hayim at Hollis Hills Bayside (Queens, NY). Over 40 new donors contributed to the Winter Appeal. JPB was also awarded three multi-year grants for $150,000, $100,000, and $100,000.

This outpouring of generosity represents both a response to the horrific situation in the Holy Lands and an expression of the trust placed in our interfaith operations and mission.

Because of you, we forge on into 2024 with our path illuminated by the enduring lights of your support.

Peace, שלום, سلام,

One Mission

Jerusalem Peacebuilders is a nonprofit organization with a mission to create a better future for humanity across religions, cultures, and nationalities. Integral to that mission is the belief that the future of Jerusalem is the future of the world. To that end, JPB facilitates transformational, person-to-person encounters among the peoples of Jerusalem, Israel, Palestine, and the United States. JPB's interfaith programs focus on connecting Jews, Christians, Muslims, Druze, and Alawi with one another and with opportunities, relationships, and skills they need to become future leaders for peace. Peace drives our mission and partnerships power our programs.

Monitoring and Evaluation (M&E) Data

Our M&E data is prepared by Emily Brown, our special Monitoring and Evaluation Intern from Yale University. Emily has worked with us since Summer 2022.

EXCEL Data

According to robust participant surveys statistically analyzed by Emily, EXCEL showed substantial evidence of success, with results showing strong evidence of program success and aligning closely with program objectives. This year, Emily combined her findings on EXCEL I and EXCEL III, helping us understand participant growth across programs. Some of our strongest change took place in participants' confidence in their peacebuilding and communication skills, and understanding the concept of 'othering':

"I am confident in my general skills in peacebuilding and communication."

Statistically significant increase pre- and post- program in both EXCEL I and EXCEL III and between EXCEL I and EXCEL III respondents

"I understand the concept of 'othering' and how it applies to communication and collaboration between different groups."

Highly statistically significant increase pre- and post- program in both EXCEL I and EXCEL III

Other questions indicating distinct positive results for the program also reflect increased confidence, for example, "I have strong leadership skills," "I feel confident in my ability to communicate effectively within a diverse group," and "I feel confident when discussing peacebuilding and conflict analysis when talking to other peacebuilding educators."

Summer Institute Data

Summer Institute respondents changed their opinions significantly between the pre- and post-program surveys on a number of questions, with great implications for the success of these programs. They show significantly higher levels of engagement with and knowledge of different elements of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. They are much more likely to believe that their actions, as individuals and within their communities, are able to effectively make an impact on the conflict: the questions below are examples showing significant increases after students' time at Summer Institute.

"Peace between Israelis and Palestinians is possible in my lifetime."

"I am personally invested in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict."

"I sympathize with Palestinian Arabs."

"I sympathize with Israeli Jews."

"What I do helps building bridges between Israelis and Palestinians."

"What I do can play a part in removing the Israeli-Palestinian conflict."

We give thanks for our supporters.
